

BOWLING.

Manager Fette, of the All-Wheelings, has replied to the objections made by Manager Hartung, of the Columbus All-Stars to certain details of the proposed Columbus-Wheeling match as proposed by the Wheeling club. Manager Fette insists that the stake be held in Wheeling, but concedes to Columbus the priva lege of bringing in two new men. The Columbus man has not been heard from. If Columbus holds out for the holding of the stake by a Columbus man, it is said Wheeling will make a counter proposition that the money be held by some one in another city, Harry Weldon, of Cinicinnati, having been mentioned in this connection.

The Coming Contest Between Stanton

Abbott and Leslie Pearce. George Siler, of Chicago, the famous referee, has been secured by the Metropolitan Athletic Club to referee the twenty-five round contest between Stanton Abbott, the crack English boxer, and Leslie Pearce, on Monday, February 27. George Siler as a referee is always in demand, and it was only through liberal inducements that the local club was enabled to procure his Siler's judgment of ring contests is seldom criticized and he has no doubt given more popular decisions than any one filling the position. His appearance here will be quite a treat and at least give general satisfaction.

The Gardner Defeat.

The Washington, Pa., Reporter says: Over at Youngstown there is a boxing club where it is alleged that no out-oftewn man can get a square deal. Jack O'Brien, whoever he is, was given a decision over Oscar Gardner, of Wheeling, at the end of their twenty round scrap Monday night. The story as printed in Tnesslay papers indicates that it must have been a peculiar right. The Youngstown correspondent even accuses the Wheeling man of wrestling, but the thousands of people who have seen him fight in the ring know that his ambition is to fight always, and not to include in a hugging match. Jimmy Reeder, an Altona fighter, says he was given the worst of it at Youngstown two weeks ago." Brien, whoever he is, was given a de-

AMUSEMENTS.

The Van Dyke and Eaton Company, in repertoire, giving two performances daily, at the Grand Opera House, this week, is giving the best of satisfaction to this popular play-house's patrons. At both matinee and night performances yesterday there were large audiences. In the afternoon, "A Family Affair" was produced, and at night the powerful drama, "Jack's Wife" was put on in first class style. The high-grade specialties given between the acts is a pleasing feature. The engagement continues throughout the week, with performances every afternoon and evening. At to-day's matinee, "His Last Chance" will be put on, and at night "A Tallow Candle." Popular prices prevail for this engagement.

"OTHER PEOPLE'S MONEY." Hennessy Leroyle, in "Other People's Money," is the legend borne upon the fences and dead walls of the city. The time is next Saturday, February 18, matinee and night, and the place the Opera House. The handling of "Other People's Money" has very often led to the most serious consequences, and as a result a great many would-be financiers are residing in foreign climes; not so with Hennessy Leroyle, for his handling of "Other People's Money" has been the means of bringing him to has been the means of bringing him to the fore as an actor of finished methods in the creation of good, wholesome, infectious laughter. After all, the play is the thing, and no matter how clever the player if the author has not given him the proper material. The happiest combination that can be offered the amusement seeker is a really funny play full of amusing scenes and situations, and bright and sparkling in its dialogue. Put this manner of dramatic composition in the hands and clever people, fully imbued with the ideas of the author, and the result is bound to be one pregnant with good results. Laughter is the best tonic for fired mankind. If it is worked out by paper means and methods, nothing will brush means and methods, nothing will brush Itching Piles and Other Rectal means and menous, northing win outsi away business care or wipe out remem-brances of domestic difficulties so quickly or in such an effective manner as laughter, and no laughter is better invented than the work of the player on the mimic stage.

BOSTON LYRIC OPERA COMPANY, One of the features that will be looked forward to by music-loving people in the return engagement of the famous Boston Lyric Opera Company, which commences for one week. Monday, February 29, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday, will be tig superb chorus, which made so pronducted a hit. While Col. W. A. Thompson has retained the same chorus as was here last, he has also added a number of singers to its ranks, which will make it grander than ever. There is no necessity of saying that one of the most important features of an opera company, after a selection of the principals is the chorus. The Boston Lyric chorus has been styled "A Beauty Show," because it contains so many pretty faces and fine figures. Each lady has a finely cultivated voice. Indeed, so thoroughly are they up in music, that without an hour's notice any one of them could go on for any female role in the opera.

COLD WEATHER INTERFERED With Operations in the Oil Fields.

Pipe Line Runs Decrease.

The cold weather has held back operations in the oil fields. Wells that were due last week have been delayed and will not be drilled in before the first of next week, even though the weather should continue moderate. Many of the creeks and small streams that supplied the drilling wells with water have been frozen to the bottom and the wells will have to remain shut down until there is a thawout. Scio has been hit hardest of any of the Scio has been hit hardest of any of the lower southwest fields, but Wood, Ritchie and Pleasants counties have had serious trouble. Washington county, Ohio, has had to shut down one-half of its drilling wells. In the deep sand territory, there has not been the same trouble for the reason that precaution had been taken to bury the water lines below the freezing point. The runs of Pennsylvania oil for the past four days have fallen off more than one-half and the Lima runs have fared even worse. The summing up for February will show a wide margin, as compared with January. The average of Pennsylvania for the first thirteen days is less than 62.000 barrels.
